ROCK ISLAND EXTENSIONS.

Los Angeles May Be Its Western Terminus.

Traffic Alliance With Mallory Company.

Promises Formidable Competition to the Espee in Texas.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

NEW YORK, July 14.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Although the management of the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific Railroad is not yet ready to disclose fully plans for extensions and improvements, there are tangible indications that this great railroad system is to be expanded on a large scale. Preparations are well in hand to build a Rock Island extension from El Paso to Los Angeles should the controlling powers of that company deem such a step advisable.

An outline of the Rock Island's plans for new construction in Texas and Louisiana has already been given. Surveys have been practically completed for an outlet for the system to Galveston, Tex., and contracts for a considerable part of the work have been let. In this connection there are intimations from trustworthy sources that the Rock Island company will either get control of the Mallory steamship line or else form a close traffic alliance with that well-known company. Such a combination would give the Rock Island system practically the same water connection with New York and other Atlantic coast points as is now enjoyed by the Southern Pacific through the control of the Morgan steamship line.

President W. B. Leeds of the Rock Island and Pacific system was asked today if there was any truth in the report of the prospective Rock Island-Mallory merger; also if his company intended to build westward to Los Angeles. He replied: "I prefer not to answer these questions at the present time."

MORE DETAILS OF LEFFLER'S RE-MARKABLE INVENTION.

Successful Trial in Chicago of Small Electro-magnets Imbedded Between Rails of Track—Great Apparent
Advantages Over Present Methods of Operation.

(BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.)
CHICAGO, July 14.—A change in the method of street-railway propulsion is the possible result of the trial made here of the invention of P. W. Leffler. Small electro-magnets imbedded between the rails of the track are used to pull the cars. They form one-half of the motor, and are placed in the ground in a line half way between the tracks. The other part, the armature, is attached lengthwise to the bottom of the car. It is a long iron bar, cut up into feet, and so attached that the ends are ordinarily within an inch of the top of the magnet boxes. But the primary difference between the new system and the trolley car motor is that the new car is not propelled by the friction of the wheels with the track, but by the invisible force of magnetism.

Each magnet is connected with main feed wires, heavily insulated, and bringing electricity from the power-house. But when the car is not running over them, the magnets are not in the circuit except when the car comes over them.

An arrangement of the magnets, according to polarity, first, a north, or positive, and then a south, or negative, is the scheme for attracting the car and making it run smoothly. In the car, on the other hand, by the use of a small storage battery, the polarity is reversed, or the movement is stopped, or, to reverse the movement instead.

The great saving which the inventor claims is in the amount of electricity required. He says seventy-five amperes will suffice for forty cars, while the present trolley system requires seventy amperes for one car. It is also claimed that the cars can be run faster than trolley cars, because they are always under perfect control.

A ten-foot model car, accommodating six persons, was manipulated successfully in the trial on a track 100 feet long.

CORN BULLS SCARED BY BIG MOVEMENT.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

CHICAGO, July 14.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Chicago's $100,000,000 corn bulls are scared tonight. They uncovered too soon. It begins to look as if the Gates crowd had fallen into error through over-confidence. The high prices made so early in the month have started corn to this market enormous in volume. From every source today come not less than 500,000 bushels of contract corn, ready to be presented to July buyers. The estimate for tomorrow is 845 cts. The bull crowd at the outset seemed to support July at around 84 cents, but when the heavy estimate for Tuesday was announced, support was withdrawn, and with the effect of selling by the ele-

PRESCOTT (Ariz.) July 14.—It has developed that Gen. Funston made a speech while a visitor to Prescott a few days ago. The occasion was a banquet in his honor, spread by Capt. R. Palmer, U.S.A., at Whipple Barracks. The toast of the evening was the honored guest was extended by Dr. F. L. Schoenle, a nephew of the late Gen. A. V. Kautz. In his reference to the deeds of the general, the doctor "drew it strong," thus concluding: "Here's to the incarnation of American courage and unswerving daring; here's to the embodiment of Anglo-Saxon grit, of American enterprise and American success; here's to Gen. Funston, who has led us to the shores of Asia to the American continent as they have never been linked before here's to Gen. Funston, I'll not say of Kansas, nor merely of the United States, but of the greater United States, our country and its colonies."

To all of which the guest responded: "I don't feel like a hero; I don't look like a hero. I am simply a lucky dog."

CHICAGO, July 14.—On the anniversary of the disappearance of Frank Elly Rogers from his home in Evanston, the parents of the boy have abandoned hope of being able to find him through the agencies that they have employed. Their only hope is now that the boy will return some time of his own accord.

A year ago young Rogers, then 13 years of age, and his aunt, Miss Florence Elly, left, and nothing has been heard of them since.

Frank Rogers, the boy's father has kept up a continuous search since that time. He has spent a fortune, it is said, in payment of the work of police and private detectives. His latest plan was the circulation of endless-chain letters. Seventy thousand of these were sent out.

(BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.)

CHICAGO, July 14.—While the wholesale business of this city is almost completely paralyzed, and while its business men are standing a loss of $1,000,000 a day, the striking freight handlers and the railroad are in a deadlock, and announce their determination to fight to a finish over the question of one-half a cent per hour per man, or a total of $500 for every twenty-four hours this being divided on one side between twenty-four railroads and on the other between 10,000 men.

The situation tonight is more serious than at any time since the commencement of the trouble, and at no time since the walk-out have the points at issue been so obstinately maintained. Three times today the freight handlers sent the managers that they would come back without results. The first call was made without giving warning to the managers, and the second and third arrived, they were unable to find any of them, for the reason that the managers were having a meeting of their own, and were not at their offices. The second call produced more effect, as several of the committees were sent out by President Curran of the freight handlers, and the demand was reiterated toward a settlement. This time the committee was met by the managers, who wanted something attempted toward a settlement.

All the committees reported as before that they had failed of any result. The managers, however, declared that they would not be deterred by the walk-out and St. Paul road, came back bearing the information that they had secured the services of the "Volunteer Handlers' Union. Both sides now declare that they have reached the limit, and that absolutely retreating has been conceded.

The men demand 17 1/2 cents, and the managers say that they will not under circumstances pay more than 10 cents. Shipping in New Men.

CHEYENNE (Wyo.) July 14.—Nearly fifty non-union machinists, boiler makers and others have been shipped by rail to the Pacific. The company is bringing in the new men rapidly, and the strikers have pickets on duty day and night, and the line of lookouts stretches from the depot far down into the yards. Officials of the company claim they are having no trouble in handling the repair work at this point.

Cook's Strike Collapses.

PUEBLO, July 14.—The strike of the Cooks and Waiters' Union in this city has practically come to an end, in consequence of the butchers and meat men coming out in sympathy with the strikers. Nearly all of the pickets arrested have been released on bond, and no picketing has been done since Saturday noon.

TAFT MUST STAND PAT.

WASHINGTON, July 14.—It was learned here today that the reply of Secretary Root to the dispatch of Gov. Taft has already been cabled to Rome. It is in the nature of instructions as to what rejoinder shall be made to the Vatican in answer to its first general instructions.

The position of the United States is unchanged. The instructions of Secretary Root, issued before Gov. Taft went to Rome, are adhered to in every essential. The important part of those instructions was that the friars should be withdrawn, and upon this question the administration has been firm. The rejoinder is a diplomatic document, and couched in such language that there will be a continuance of the negotiations.

WOOLSEY MUST GO AWAY OFF.

NEW YORK, July 14.—In the suit of the Standard Distilling and Distributing Company against the Woolsey Distilling Company, Judge Lamont in the United States Circuit Court today signed an order restraining Woolsey from engaging in the distilling business within 120 miles of Chicago, and directing him to sell all his stock in the Hammond Distilling Company.

WALLER COURT-MARTIAL.

GEN. CHAFFEE CRITICIZES IT.
(BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.)
WASHINGTON, July 14.—The incoming Philippine mail brings the full printed record of the court-martial case of Maj. L. W. T. Waller and Lieut. John Horace Arthur Day of the Marine Corps, growing out of the killing of some native warriors on Samar.

The record shows that Maj. Waller was acquitted of the charge of murder, but that Gen. Chaffee, declaring that "there had been a miscarriage of justice in this case," disapproves the finding, and the acquittal with the exception that, while Waller should not have been found guilty of murder, the court should have included a lesser defense.

Gen. Chaffee's declaration is very strong, and he says with the exception of three who deserted, no overt acts were committed by the command, but on the contrary, "those who remained with the command, and to the last to carry the arms and ammunition of the men, after they were no longer to bear them, and to render in their impulsive way such service as they were capable of, without their assistance many of the marines who now survive, would also have perished."

In the case of Lieut. Day, who also was acquitted, Gen. Chaffee disapproves the finding to the specification and charge of murder. He says that Lieut. Day should have known that his commanding officer, Maj. Waller, had for three weeks been under a test of mental and physical endurance, as so few men are called upon to undergo; that he was sick with fever, his temperature being 105, and his body covered with painful sores. Day was only on duty a few days, and in full possession of his faculties, and his plain duty was to counsel delay in the execution of the order to kill the natives. Gen. Chaffee refers to the order of Maj. Waller as a "test of mental and physical endurance," and says that it should have prompted him (Day) to a disobedience of the same.

Notwithstanding the disapproval, the officers were released, as they could not be tried twice for the same offense.

Wu says How Yow will probably continue as Consul-General to San Francisco, but this is not decided yet. How Yow is Wu's brother-in-law, and he has many enemies in China. He has kept his place for him, and the new Minister will have the appointment at San Francisco at his disposal, if he wants it.

MASKED MEN ROB TRAIN.

Safes in Express Car

Rocky Mountains the Scene of Hold-up—Many Tourists
Among Victims.

(BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.)
GUNNISON (Colo.) July 14.—Masked men held up the west-bound passenger train on the Denver and Rio Grande narrow gauge at Mill switch, a point two miles east of Chester, at 8:40 o'clock this morning. The two safes in the express car were blown open with dynamite, and the car almost completely wrecked. The contents of the safes were taken, but the amount of money secured is believed to have been small. The passengers were robbed, several thousand dollars being obtained.

The robbers are believed to have been riding on the front of the baggage car. Two of them crawled over the tender at Mill switch, which is on the west slope of Marshall Pass. The engineer, Perry Ruland, was compelled to stop the train. The robbers then compelled the passengers to leave the train. The express messenger refused to open the car door, when it was blown open with a charge of dynamite. Two explosions of dynamite sufficed to open both safes, after which the robbers made the passengers stand in line, and deliver their valuables. Meaning many of the passengers had hidden their money and jewelry in the tall grass and among the rocks. The mail car was not molested. The robbery occupied about one hour, and afterward the train was run back to Salida, and reports of the occurrence were sent to the officials of the road, and to sheriffs of the surrounding counties. The train reached this city this afternoon.

The hold-ups are believed to be a band of horse and cattle thieves who have been plundering the herds of the ranchmen of the upper Tomichi and Razon creeks for many months. A posse of five deputies led Sargent sent after the robbers was reported there, and are supposed to be on the trail of the bandits. Under Sheriff Snodgrass with eight deputies left this city this evening heavily armed, and with good horses. A special train conveyed them to the scene of the robbery near south toward Saguache. H. F. Newton, a passenger, says he saw three of the gang. Whether there were any more he could not say. They were dressed in white duck suits, and wore brown shirts. Newton lost many of his valuables, along with others.

The stories in regard to the number of robbers vary. Some say three, some four, and others five. According to the latter, one was stationed at each end of the train, and the collected money. Another was at the hillside, acting as picket. After they were robbed, the passengers were ordered to get into the train, and it went on its way. The gang of outlaws then made for the hills.

Engineer Ruland was the only one hurt, although several shots were fired at passengers. A shot also went through the cab of the engine, which had helped the train up the pass and

"COLD" DELUSION.
THEORY IN REGARD TO "COLD" CAUSE OF "UNTOLD PREVENTING CONSUMPTION" CURE FOR CATARRH. MISTAKEN FOR SOURCE

Have they a right to fight gnats and vestry moths, while a devouring dragon is prowling the highways? Should we lecture our neighbor about the shortcomings of his attempt at the preparation of Easter eggs, and not mention the fact that he has mistaken a keg of arsenic for a pot of table salt?

But, suppose he should question our chemical demonstrations? Then let us ask him to try a practical experiment. Make him mix a handful of the supposed salt with corn meal, scatter the compound in the chicken yard and await results.

SUGGESTS AN EXPERIMENT.
The "cold" theory can be tested in the same manner. Ask your deluded friend to take nothing for granted, but to watch the outcome of experimental arrangements and draw his own inferences.

Cage any bird, from a sparrow to a Shanghai rooster, and confine him for a week in the bedroom of a catarrh patient. Keep the windows carefully closed. Prevent draughts by closing the doors all around before you open that of the experiment room. In cold weather give your prisoner the benefit of artificial warmth.

At the same time keep another bird of that species in the draughtiest room of the house, doors and windows wide open, edge placed in the center of cold-air currents, no fire, nothing but an occasional precaution against killing frosts, feed both captives alike, and, after a month or two, compare the condition of their respiratory organs.

Horses that have weathered the dreadful blizzards of a northwestern prairie, and perhaps died of hunger or shrunk to skeletons, can be found with perfectly sound lungs at the end of winter. Well-fed and carefully warmed Shetland ponies (the hardest of the far heritors, with the possible exception of the musk ox) will sicken and die of influenza in the foul atmosphere of an underground stable-die of a disorder so closely resembling tuberculosis that many veterinary surgeons call it "horse consumption." Sheep, not, and the rinderpest become epidemic in ill-ventilated stables, and can be cured on airy pastures more easily than by any chemical lung balm.

Consumption, in fact, is a horse disease. Its proximate cause is the development of a microbe that flourishes in warm, stagnant and impure air, and defies all remedies, except the patient's transfer to a purer atmosphere.

PREJUDICE AGAINST COLD AIR.
The cure in ninety-nine out of a hundred instances, could be accomplished by the simple plan of opening the bedroom windows. A Boston physician of my acquaintance describes microbes as almost overpowering an individual in a room where a stove heats the air, aggravated by stove heat or warm weather, and confesses that he would often have yielded to the temptation of knocking out a window sash if it had not been for the dread of defying the craze of a deep-rooted prejudice. One might as well rip out the dam of the Hurdwar Temple pond, that infects thousands of Hindoos with the germ of cholera epidemics. They insist on swallowing quarts of the same water that has served the purposes of a holy bath, and would slay a meddler as an enemy of Brahma and mankind. An offhand ventilator of a catarrh dungeon, too, would take his life in his hands. The dupes of the "cold" superstition dread fresh air as they dread poison.

They would not thank a friend who would offer to defray the expenses of their sojourn at a mountain-cure sanatorium, they thank the inventor of the weather stripe that enable them to exclude every breath of life air. So do the lung microbes. Pampered with a putrid air, and the temperature of a hot bed, they multiply like gnats in a fever swamp, and soon colonize the entire tissue of the pulmonary apparatus. The lungs become a mass of tubercles; the patient gasps in a more and more ineffectual struggle for life air; his children, too, begin to cough and complain of sore throats.

Did they, too, "catch cold" at the bake-oven period of the dogdays? Their parents try to explain it this way and that. Jack must have run barefoot. Sheep rot, and the rinderpest got his feet in the wet grass. He didn't take his cap along when he ran for medicine in the cool of the morning. And the baby is in the habit of kicking off his blankets in the middle of the night. Its sister fans herself too hard, and that may have created a draught.

There is a story of an old lady, who ascribed her "colds" to the peril of eating gruel from an unwarm dish.

IN THE TROPICS.
Lung diseases, almost unknown in the haunts of the Canadian aborigines, prevail in the foul tenement dens of such cities as Lyons and New Orleans, and abate further south only because it is physically impossible to breathe the vitiated indoor air of a sick room in the tropics. In Rio Janeiro, Havana and Vera Cruz a die of the night-air superstition, trying to sleep in an unventilated bedroom, would not only sicken, but suffocate; if locked up with a gang of his fellow-believers he would soon shriek for air and die raging like the prisoners of the Cautica Blackhole.

Spanish-American bedrooms, as a rule, are only grates; even a wire screen would interfere with the lung comfort of the occupants, who in mid-summer actually transfer their pallets to the texada, or flat housetop, though the temperature of the midnight hours may sink to below 60 deg. Fahr.

Newcomers often try to stick to their superstitious practices, and thus incur many of the disorders ascribed to unavoidable climatic causes.

Does the instinct of self-preservation not warn them against the consequences of their mistake?

It does, persistently, but their prejudice resists those admonitions as the medieval saints resisted the wiles of the tempter.

LESSONS OF INSTINCT.
"It is probable," says an educational reformer, "that many victims of dietetic abuses have become initiated to those vices at such an early period of their lives that they have forgotten the time when the taste of alcohol seemed bitter, and the fumes of tobacco nauseous, but I am certain that no man gifted with a moderate share of memory, who has grown up in the pest atmosphere of our city tenements, schoolrooms and work shops, can forget the passionate yearnings of his childhood for the free air of the woods and mountains, the wild outcry of his instinct against the process that inoculated him with the seeds of death and stunted the development of his most vital functions. The remorselessness of the Spartan slayers of deformed infants was mercy itself, compared with the cruelty of parents who suffocate their children by the slow process of stunting their life air through years and years of confinement in dungeons, to which an enlightened community would hardly consign their malefactors."

Jean Paul, the German Bret Harte, relates that he used to secure a seat in a schoolroom corner where a knot hole in the wall established a communication with the outdoor world. Through this aperture he limbed comfort as from a bottle of stimulants, but conceived doubts about the moral tendencies of a practice that tempted him to join a troop of woodcutters or gypsies, and indulge an almost irresistible desire to make the luxury of fresh air a permanent blessing.

"I knew," he says, "what sort of names they would call me if I should run away. Good heavens! how I longed to prove my affection by working for them in wind and weather, fetching in cordwood and spitting it in the hand-wrest pieces, carrying messages over the snow-covered mountains, and getting back in half the time any one else could make the trip—do anything that would save me—not from my books, but from that growing Moloch of a big stove, and that stifling, soul-stilling smell of our dungeon."

He did attempt now and then to raise the window an inch or two, and give his schoolmates a chance to share his solace, but a chorus of protests made him fear that his motive would again be misconstrued. In the end, he gave up the attempt.

"Will you stop that! The ideal Opening windows and give us all our death of cold!"

"Ergasmus"—"cold in the head"—"naufria," the same superstition from Gibraltar to Gretna Green, from Mexico to Maine, but, according to numerous reports, not quite up to the Klondike, where the night frost of the Arctic Circle destroys lung microbes in spite of all precautions, and where catarrhs are as rare as in the summertime of the Adirondacks. The mountain cure—"frost cure" would be a more appropriate name—has been tried in a dozen different countries, and with such invariable success that flight to the highlands, is beginning to be recognized as a specific, even in cases of far-gone consumption.

The problem of prevention could be solved in the lowlands, if it were not for the indisputable fact that malignant lung disorders can become contagious.

AVOIDING CATARRH GERMS.
The floating germs of all sorts of pulmonary affections retain their vitality for many days, and in their worst forms can become almost as infectious as smallpox. The virulent variety originating in the ill-ventilated boor hovels of Eastern Russia, has been known to spread from the Urals to the Atlantic in four weeks, and after crossing the ocean by steam resume its rapid transit explicitly in the western hemisphere. For "la grippe," alias influenza, is nothing but a specially contagious catarrh, and the epidemics that have almost destroyed the family of Secretary Blaine, may have been hatched in the dugout of an Uralian cosack.

Catarrh germs lurk in the atmosphere of stuffy work shops, meeting-houses, public libraries, and especially in overcrowded schoolrooms, which in winter become veritable distributing centers of microbes that often stick to the lungs of their young victims more persistently than the seeds of knowledge stick to their brains. The contagion spreads from classroom to classroom, from street to street, from city to city.

But, luckily, infection does not always insure the development of lung disorder. An hour's walk in the germ-destroying atmosphere of a keen winter day, or of an early morning in summer, may nip the mischief in the bud. Sleeping in the direct draught of the cool night wind will answer the same purpose, especially after outdoor exercise has invited the remedial co-operation of deep slumber.

The trouble is that the dormant germs linger, and by accumulation are apt to become virulent, and cause outbreaks of catarrhs at the end of a long winter. "Raw March winds" is the conventional explanation of a phenomenon really due to the effect of March microbes superadded to half a dozen earlier installations, and supplying the spark that finally starts the long-suppressed conflagration.

Prevention, therefore, remains important under all circumstances, and persons with sensitive lungs should avoid crowded rooms, as dyspeptics shun the traps of the mincepie mixer. They should keep away from auction rooms, stuff depots, and visit libraries only for the briefest possible call at the counter of the circulation department. Rather than tempt danger in a crowded street car, they should walk home through gales and snow drifts; a twenty-minute tussle with the flakes of a blizzard may prevent a twenty-day struggle with an army of ravaging lung microbes.

Catarrh microbes may resist a considerable dose of carbolic acid, but as the whistle of a blizzard they will vanish like ghosts at the song of the morning rooster.

No equivocation of cause and cure in such cases. Don't let us talk of "cold" any more. All civilized nations should agree to drop that preposterous synonym.

P. A. O. S. W.

In tomorrow's Times Thomson Jay Hudson, Ph.D., L.L.D., will continue his argument against spiritualism, citing instances in support of his contention that all spiritistic phenomena may be explained on modern scientific principles.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

Councilmen yesterday indulged in a long debate concerning the oil refinery district, but no action was taken. Hoffman was given the dead animal contract yesterday, despite show of collusion. Ordinance prohibiting the sale of liquor in dressing-rooms was passed yesterday. The official Council proceedings, published by authority, will be found elsewhere on this page. Three bad boys were sent to Whittier yesterday—making five since Saturday. Mrs. Joralemon added some more kinks yesterday to her fight against ex-Senator Dorsey because he married another woman recently.

AT THE CITY HALL.

TODD GROUND BENEATH WEIGHT OF WOE.

HOW COUNCILMEN LEFT HIM TO SINK OR SWIM.

Report on Oil Refinery District Stirs Senses to Forensic Eloquence—Sixth and Eighth Wards Want to Be as Immune as the Seventh.

Force of circumstances prevented Councilman Ben Lauder, representing the Seventh Ward, from disentangling the meshes of the oil-refinery ordinance which encircles a portion of his bailiwick. In the absence of Bowen, who had been called to the city hall to help Lauder secure a report from the Committee on Legislation, of which he is chairman, entirely eliminating the Seventh Ward, Lauder concurred in the findings of the chairman, and the report recommended that the ordinance be amended so as to exclude from the oil refinery district all territory bounded by First street on the north, the Los Angeles River on the east, Ninth street on the south, and Main street on the west.

Todd jumped to his feet the instant the report was read and excitedly demanded that the scope of the ordinance be enlarged to include the territory bounded by First street on the north, the Los Angeles River on the east, Ninth street on the south, and Main street on the west.

"Only too well do I understand the feelings of the member from the Seventh," declared Todd. "Many times I have been in trouble—almost despairing because of obnoxious industries that have rendered the people of the ward to wraith—but not once has a member of this body stretched forth a hand to help me. Today, I deem it unfair that the Seventh Ward should be exempt from annoyance due to oil refineries, if the Eighth Ward must bear the burden. Our houses are as dear to us as the homes of Seventh Warders to them, and if the Seventh Ward is to be exempt from this district I want the Eighth Ward excluded as well."

Todd then moved that the report of the committee be adopted with an amendment, excluding the Eighth Ward from the district where it is so useful to erect oil refineries.

After further humorous debate during which Todd exploded several times about dangerous and obnoxious nuisances, the Eighth Ward voted to move an amendment excluding both the Sixth and Eighth Wards, as well as the Seventh.

As the entire district in these three wards the motion, had it carried, would have made it impossible for more refineries to be established in the city. Todd expatiated at some length on this phase of the situation.

Bowen, ruddy with redness, commended, attempted to pour a little oil on the waves of debate by referring to the importance of the industry, and the care with which the district along the railway lines had been laid out by the Council. At the time, he said, all were satisfied with the district and thought it wise to make no further changes.

Lauder made his semi-annual speech in the Council by referring to the petition of Seventh Warders presented to the committee. He said oil refineries are nuisances and should be excluded from populous sections.

Todd then discovered that the amendment proposed prohibited the maintenance, as well as the erection of oil refineries, and might compel the removal of those already established. Debate on this point ended in a reference back to the Committee on Legislation for future consideration.

The report of the committee yesterday is the culmination of a fight now being waged by the Seventh Ward Improvement Association to keep out of the refinery, gas plants and other manufacturing, and to establish the status of the ward as a residence section.

WISPS OF LEGISLATION.

Total prohibition is expected to prevail behind the scenes in all local theaters as soon as an ordinance passed by the Council yesterday is published. The measure is in line with a recommendation of the Police Commission, and prohibits the sale of liquor in the dressing-rooms of actresses, and "Willie boys" will have to go dry or secure a "pull" with the management. Todd declared the ordinance to be "unconstitutional legislation," and Lauder opposed its adoption; but the necessary five votes were cast by Pierce, Blanchard, McLain, Allen and Walker.

A sleek, fat Chinaman cast a smile that was "childlike and bland" at the Council yesterday. When the report of the special License Committee, recommending a uniform license of $10 a month on all laundries, The French hand laundries and the Chinese Laundry Association were represented before the Council by Attorney S. H. Garrett, who spoke briefly. Todd declared it unfair to assess the laundry doing $500 worth of business a month as much as one that does a few dollars a month. A majority of the City Fathers took the same view of the matter, much to the delight of the laundry representatives in the lobby.

Councilman McLain yesterday vigorously opposed a transfer of a lease to certain lands on the west side of Buena Vista street, adjoining Elysian Park, from Robert Roberts to Walter Young, an oil operator. McLain said that the new lease desires to prospect for oil on the land, in violation of the ordinance prohibiting oil development within 1000 feet of a public park. If oil wells are drilled on the property, it is feared that the oil from the pump holes will run down Buena and Buena Vista streets, creating a winter nuisance. Nothing is gained by the city, as Roberts now has a lease on the land for grazing and no more revenue is derived by the transfer of the lease to Young. Despite McLain's opposition, the transfer of lease was authorized.

On recommendation of the complaint of Gustave de Laveaux, concerning treatment at the City Jail, was referred to the Police Commission. The motion of Walker, the width of the proposed sidewalk on the north side of Seventh street from Alvarado to Park View street, was changed from six to twelve feet. This sidewalk is along the south edge of Westlake Park, and it was thought that a six-foot sidewalk would not accommodate the people who visit the park on Sundays and holidays.

From this the record adopted by the Council yesterday extending an invitation to the head camp, Pacific Jurisdiction, Woodmen of the World, which meets in Cripple Creek, Colo., August 2, to hold its next session, in August, 1924, in Los Angeles. There are 20,000 Woodmen in this State, and 4000 in Los Angeles county.

An appeal was taken from the acts and determinations of the Street Superintendent in installing the warrant and diagram for sewer work on portions of Brooklyn avenue, Bred and Sheridan streets. The hearing was set for next Monday at 2 o'clock p.m.

The bid of J. E. Frick to sewer a portion of Alhambra avenue for $94,000 was the subject of a meeting of the special committee, consisting of Blanchard, Bowen and Walker, appointed to determine the propriety of the bid.

A meeting of the special committee, consisting of Blanchard, Bowen and Walker, appointed to determine the propriety of the bid, was held yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Several decisions were made in the hands of the Finance Committee.

An ordinance making it a misdemeanor to maintain a megaphone of greater length than eighteen inches or greater diameter at the mouth than ten inches was passed by the Council yesterday.

Ordinances of intention were adopted to improve, under the bond act, Thirty-eighth street from Vermont to Western avenue, cost $12,000; 22nd street from Vermont to Western avenue, cost $12,000; 22nd street from Vermont to Western avenue, cost $12,000; 22nd street from Vermont to Western avenue, cost $12,000.

A difference of opinion exists concerning the necessity of improving Grover street from Washington street to 1500 feet north. A. L. Ross appeared for the proponents, and Theodore Chapin for the petitioners. The City Engineer reported that there is a total of 2000 feet on the street and 300 feet on the protest.

After some discussion, during which conflicting statements as to conditions were made by the property owner, consideration of the matter was postponed until Acting Mayor Powers can give it attention.

An ordinance declaring that the public necessarily requires the opening and widening of Sunset boulevard between Main and Western avenues, was adopted by the Council yesterday.

Ordinances were adopted, fixing the salaries of persons in the electrical and engineering departments. The salary of the City Electrician is raised from $150 to $160 a month. Suggestions of City Engineer Stafford, already published, are followed in the ordinance adjusting salaries in his department.

Todd, Lauder and Walker were appointed a special committee to fix the assessment for the opening and widening of San Julian street.

DEAD ANIMALS. COUNCILMEN DITTO. Without even a tremor, a majority of the City Fathers yesterday voted to enter into a contract with J. H. Hoffman to remove dead animals at prices ranging from $5 to 25 cents a head.

Under the Hoffman bid the city will have to pay about $100 a year for the removal of dead animals. William Peterson offered to do the work at a nominal figure in his written proposal, and Attorney Louis E. Kreger guaranteed that his client would pay $100 for the privilege if the contract was readjusted.

It is said that much profit is derived from converting the carcasses into fertilizer and selling the same. Subversive to the business that independent reduction works are maintained in the city, where money is paid for old horses and for the bodies of dead animals.

Nevertheless, in the face of an offer to pay the city for the privilege, and another proposal to remove dead animals free of charge, the Council, without a dissenting voice, yesterday gave the contract to Hoffman at the highest figure.

President Powers, who is now acting as mayor, and Councilmen Bowen and Walker were not present when the vote was taken.

In other cities the removal of dead animals is included in the garbage contract, and this fact was called to the attention of the Board of Public Works before the bid was accepted. The contract, for some reason it was thought best to present separate specifications. Hoffman, by virtue of the award made yesterday, will benefit by the contract for the next three years.

The utility and Guaranty Company is the surety on Hoffman's bond. Natchez Billard was not present to assist Billard yesterday.

RIVAL LAND CLAIMANTS. Parties Who Settled on New Land and Those Who Filed on it are Testing Their Respective Rights.

An action was commenced yesterday before the register and receiver of the Land Office to determine the right to enter upon some 1600 acres of land fifteen miles south of Indio, and which recently taken out of the forest reserve and thrown open to settlement. This right hinges on the two questions of when the claimants and whether or not actual settlement on land, to be followed by a filing thereon, is a prerequisite under a filing followed by settlement.

The interested parties are Frank L. Low, Joseph L. Patton, R. C. Plummer, J. L. C. A. and Abbie L. Taggart, and the State of California, as settlers, and Frank D. Lewis, William L. Peters, Daniel D. Grace, P. T. Evans and Orley E. Liddell, who filed "desert" claims on the land when the land office opened in 1910.

The former party went on the land in the night, April 1, and the latter came in a roomy automobile in the land office, for days, in order to be on hand when the office opened April 1.

The taking of testimony as to the character of the land and the improvement made thereon by the settlers was commenced yesterday and may be continued all week.

AT THE COURTROOM. DORSEY IS OUTWITTED BY MRS. JORALEMON.

SHE MORTGAGES FURNISHINGS IN HOUSE HE GAVE HER.

His Son Goes to Recover Possession of Both House and Furnishings—Joralemon, Divorced Husband, to Sue the Former Senator.

Formal suit was begun in the Superior Court yesterday by Clayton C. Dorsey of Denver to oust Mrs. Harriet Elizabeth Joralemon and her coteries of friends from the elegant little cottage-home of blighted love at No. 414 West Twenty-second street. Aside from Mrs. Joralemon, the other defendants named are "Jane Doe Rogers, John Doe and Richard Roe." Plaintiff is a son of former United States Senator Stephen H. Dorsey.

Mrs. Joralemon, it will be remembered, holds possession of the property against her son, claiming it as a gift from ex-Senator Dorsey, under promise of marriage.

She has been living there since last August, and asserts that the ex-Senator induced her to change her station in life from his private secretary to a married woman by giving her the property now in dispute, together with all the household furnishings, and by declaring matrimonial intentions.

With this understanding, she swears, she married him.

SALT LAKE COMPANY
SHELVES OIL REFINERY.SOUTHWEST EXTENSION LOSES ITS ONE HOPE.

Drilling Operations to Be Resumed—
Start to Be Made at Acton This Week—Gas in Kern River—Fullerton's Greatness.

The Salt Lake Oil Company management has changed its mind. This shift will cost the southwestern extension of the local oil field a refinery, or at least, will delay the erection of such a plant there indefinitely.

Having proved that a light grade of oil is to be found a few miles to the southwest, the Salt Lake company began making preparations for the installation of a plant on its property. Then came the news that a pipe line was to be built from Whittier to the local field, and yesterday Manager Fred Phillips announced that the refinery scheme would be shelved until the air clears.

Drilling is to be resumed at once, however, an order having been given yesterday for the deepening of well No. 3. Oil of eighteen gravity is the present production, but it will be sent for a product showing two degrees better.

"We find that the deeper we go, the lighter the oil gets," said Manager Phillips yesterday. "If we succeed in making well No. 3 a good producer, others will be sent down, and we will probably put two rigs at work. What the field really needs is a refinery, but the outlook is not as encouraging as it might be. At present there is no market for oil of this gravity, and it is produced, but we could easily supply a large demand from the wells already drilled."

WILL DRILL AT ACTON.
The next move in Acton's prospect oil field will be the starting of a drill. From that country comes the word that the Actonoma Oil and Development Company has completed all arrangements for the drilling of the first well there, and that operations will be begun the latter part of the week.

The pipe line was recently run down from the mountains, four miles north of that place, and there is now sufficient water on hand to supply the drilling outfit. Drilling "Dad" Anderson and Louis de Bole, formerly of the Pacific Coast company at Newhall, have been placed in charge of the rig.

Another large rig is being put in place in another corner of the field. It is several miles south of the former plant, and is being installed by the Boston Oil Company. The North American Oil and Refining Company, which erected a derrick some months ago near Acton, have done nothing since.

TRAVELING GAS IN EVIDENCE.
Traveling gas is again making itself conspicuous in the Kern River field. On the Monte Cristo lease Saturday the drillers were treated to a gushing start that lasted for several hours. At least eight times the oil was sent with great force over the derrick, and each outburst the flow was considerable. This is another evidence that there is a pressure of gas traveling over that oil field.

DEEP AND LASTING.
FULLERTON FIELD BEST PAYER.

INTERNAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.

FULLERTON, July 14.—A well-known oil man, who is interested in several oil districts of the State, in a recent conversation here, said Fullerton had so far proved itself the best-paying oil district in the West, as it is producing high-gravity oil and the wells are holding out in a manner that surprises the experts. He referred to the wells of the Fullerton Oil Company, some of which have been on the pump nearly fifteen years, and are still fairly good producers. Fullerton, he said, is a well-known oil field, and the wells on the Santa Fe lease are producing nearly as heavily as when first tapped, several years ago. The man accounts for the long life of the wells in these fields by the deep oil sand, which is said to be heavier and deeper than in any other field in the State. He stated that wells were pumped in many fields, where the oil sand is only a few feet thick, while here it is several hundred feet, in most of the wells, well No. 26 on the Santa Fe lease, having been pumped for 150 feet of rich oil sand. He predicts a great future for the entire Fullerton field.

DERRICK AND RIG BURNED.

This morning, while the drillers on well No. 31 on the Santa Fe lease were at breakfast, the derrick and rig caught fire, and burned to the ground. The loss will be $2000. It is believed the fire broke out by friction from the belt wheel. The rig was one of the best on the lease, and will be replaced at once, and drilling on the well resumed.

ON 'CHANGE.

FULLERTON OIL RECOVERERS.

Interest was centered in Fullerton Oil on 'change yesterday, but it was not a feature, as during Saturday's session, when it closed at 14 cents. Opening bids were at 8 cents yesterday, but the first sale was at 10 cents a share; then followed a decline, the security closing at 8 cents.

BUENA PARK.
NEW BOND QUESTION.

BUENA PARK, July 14.—It is now given out that the new schoolhouse will cost $5000, according to the plans accepted by the trustees. This is $1000 more than was expected, as the district only voted $4500. A mass meeting will be called to decide whether or not it is best to vote an additional $1000 bonds, or to change the plans so that the building will cost only $4500.

BUENA PARK BREVITIES.

J. H. Barham and family have moved to Pomona.

A. L. Lovin is building a six-horsepower pumping plant on his place.

D. J. Young has purchased a place at Highland, and will move there.

A. L. Lovin has taken a position in the condensed-milk factory as sterilizer.

L. McCulloch of Cypress and Miss Jessie Jones of West Point, this State, have been elected teachers.

Place T. Smithfield, a pioneer of the county, who was dangerously sick in a horse a few weeks ago, is still in bed. His jaw, which was broken, did not knit properly.

enjoyable they have experienced. Punch and fruit were served at the Red-ber of Commerce met the distinguished visitors and took them in carriages to all points of interest. The famous Democrat, Smiley Heights, will and Pepper Drive were shown the party, and they were afterward taken to the home of the late Gov. Bullard on the sanja, and to many other places of interest.

After lunch on the train, which was furnished by Mrs. M. Brewer of this city, niece of John M. Thayer, first

United States Senator from Nebraska,

Gov. Savage and party proceeded in their private car to Riverside, where they were met by a committee from the Board of Trade and the freedom of the city was extended to them.

After a drive on Magnolia avenue to the heights above and a visit to the

city for this city, where they arrived at 6 o'clock.

Savage and members of his staff spent last evening at the Bivouac as the guests of Gen. Otis. The following were present: Gov. Savage, Col. C. J.

Moore, Col. C. D. Evans, Col. S. E.

Melick, Col. T. C. Schramm, also

Gov. Savage's staff, including Mr. P. W.
